

Belbin Team Building Day

A corporate team building day incorporating Belbin team roles and team building exercises

A Belbin accredited facilitator will lead your team through an enjoyable, interactive training day which will examine how teams and individuals can work together more effectively.

Prior to this Belbin team building day, delegates will complete a self perception inventory and invite up to 6 observers to provide their feedback too. This information will allow us to produce an individual Belbin report for each delegate.

Dr Meredith Belbin identified 9 team roles which all contribute to effective team working. We will spend some of the day exploring each team role and your Belbin trainer will explain the strengths, allowable and non-allowable weaknesses of each role.

We will include some practical team challenges and team activities to help illustrate how working to individual strengths can help produce great results for the team as a whole.

Delegates will leave this team development day understanding the preferred role they play in team and also the preferred roles of their colleagues.
